CALLS 500,000 BRITONS IN U. S.

New York, June 4.—Great Britain issued a call to the colors yesterday to the 500,000 British subjects in the United States between the ages of 18 and 45 years. The call was accompanied by a warning that their subjects in this country who did not enlist would in all probability become men without a country; that is, they would lose their citizenship.

The United States has given to the British recruiting mission the use of its enlistment machinery, and British subjects may volunteer at any United States army recruiting station. The mission has opened offices at 230 Broadway and will establish branch offices this week in all the large cities in the country. Enlisting will begin on Wednesday. If the British subjects do not respond to the call, it is possible that some arrangement will be made between London and Washington whereby they may be drafted.

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, June 4.—All Paris was shaken and the citizens thrown into a panic by a powerful detonation this morning, which was followed by many more detonations. It was learned that a munition factory was blown up on the outskirts of the city. The big plant was destroyed so that there was not a vestige of the plant left. It is not known as yet as to the extent of the loss of life. It was one of the most terrific explosions since the war started.

POLICE COURT

James McCarthy and William Dennis from "somewhere in Maine," joined the sousé squad here on Saturday and were ready for conscription or anything else. They were not ready, however for the city hall fine when the police came along at North End, but the unexpected trip happened. Dennis escaped some handwork in the garden plots at the county farming colony by separating himself from $11.13. McCarthy had nothing that looked like the real kale and was shanghaied on the Baystate Limited at noon for a few months' outing and incidentally work out $11.13 to add the farm products of the county.

Morton Fletcher, John Luey and Alfred Hutchinson, three navy men, got mixed up in a punching fest on Bridge street. They not only mixed it up among themselves but took a punch at one of the navy patrol who came along with the big stick. They forgot all about their own fight and started another mixup with the master at arms. At this point there was more mixture and the cops mixed in for a general mixup. They hurried the trio to the bastle. They were later turned over to the navy authorities for a different kind of a mixup with one of Uncle Sam's court martial boards.

Everett B. Marston, charged with breaking glass in the windows of J. V. Wood's undertaking rooms, also escaped the court. He deposited the amount necessary to replace the broken glass and got by the court.

For Death of Frank Gately---Case continued until June 16---Bail set at $500 each.

Albert G. McInosh of Boston and H. H. Hooper of Rye, passengers in the automobile which fatally injured Frank H. Gately of Woburn near the junction of Greenleaf avenue and Lafayette Road late Saturday night, were before Judge Guptill in the municipal court today charged with manslaughter in the second degree. Both pleaded not guilty and were defended by Judge Thomas H. Simes. County Attorney Sleeper conducted the case for the state and opened the case with Dennis Coughlin on the witness stand, one of the men with Gately at the time of the accident, who told of circumstances surrounding the case. He was followed by John Flanagan, the third man in the party, who told practically the same story as Coughlin. Chief of Police Hurley was the last witness called. Judge Simes without any cross examination or testimony for the defendant asked for a continuance owing to the fact that he had been called to Washington and had not fully prepared his part of the case. The court ordered a further hearing on June 16 and each furnished bail in the sum of $500.

PORTSMOUTH HIGH APPLIED THE WHITWASH TO NASHUA

Portsmouth High School on Saturday showed for the first time this season a host of her old time pep and the efforts of the nine to play baseball all of the time resulted in a decisive victory for Portsmouth against Nashua High School to the tune of 9 to 0 in the seven innings played. Portsmouth won her victory by outplaying the visitors in all departments of the game, especially by hitting, hammering Garland for twice safe singles, for a total of seven hits, the extra bases being made by Thompson, Clark and Smith, the two latter making three bases and Thompson's hit, which was good for three bases, giving a double when he tripped over the second bag on his way to third.

Portsmouth showed a vast improvement in base running, taking chances and seven bases were pilfered. The visitors succeeded in stealing but two. Of the seven stolen for Portsmouth Trafton got three of them, and he made two hits in four chances.

Clark, for the first time this season, showed up well at bat, making a single, triple and a sacrifice hit in four chances. All of Portsmouth's hits were clean and hard, and they came at times when they counted in the run getting.

Hodgdon pitched good baseball, fanning eight men, allowing only two scattered hits, and passing but two. The two errors scored against the home team were slight, one caused by a collision between Trafton and Kirkpatrick in going after a high fly and the other by Butler making a bad throw in a fielder's choice play to catch a man at second.

NO RESORT TO FORCE FEARED BY OFFICIALS

Washington, June 4.—Every conceivable precaution has been taken by the federal government to guard against interference with or evasion of the draft, army registration next Tuesday. The enrollment of those covered by the army draft law will take on the magnitude of a national election.

The government expects 10,000,000 men to go to the polls to register. This is half the number that voted in the last national election when more votes were cast than in any other national contest. The popular vote for President Wilson in 1916 was 9,127,748; for Hughes, 5,545,765; for Denison, the Socialist candidate, 520,323; for Hanley, prohibition candidate, 215,599, and for Helger, the Socialist-Labor candidate, 14,132, an aggregate of nearly 20,000,000 votes.

According to the best possible estimate that the census bureau has been able to make there are 10,075,900 men in the country between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive. One-tenth of the total to be registered are expected to be enrolled in the state of New York. An estimate issued by Sam L. Rogers, director of the census bureau, is that there are probably 1,000,000 men of the registration age in the state of New York alone and that of these 624,700 are estimated to be living in Greater New York.

The attorney-general and the provost marshal general were in close touch with the situation and think they have every detail perfected for a successful registration.

"I anticipate no resort to force to prevent registration," said the attorney-general. "If any individual should attempt it, he will be promptly dealt with."

CLOTHES TO BE STANDARDIZED FOR HOME TRADE

(By Associated Press)

London, June 4.—Clothes are the next thing to be rationed in this country. This is forecast in the recommendations of a committee appointed to review the general wool position in view of the necessity of ensuring a reserve of wool for military purposes.

It is recommended that a limited number of articles in which wool forms a constituent part should be standardized for the home trade. There are stocks of cloth and clothing in the hands of merchant and retailers sufficient to clothe the population with reasonable economy for twelve months, so the committee finds, but it says that great care should be exercised to conserve supplies.

DISCOVER GRAPHITE DEPOSITS

(By Associated Press)

Stockholm, June 4.—The discovery of extensive graphite deposits is reported from Ragunda, in the province of Jamland. Outcroppings as much as two feet in diameter have already been found. The newly found deposits are of great importance for Sweden as the supply of graphite has become very short, imports from Germany ceased long ago.

AN AMAZING PUBLIC AGITATION

The gospel of efficiency has been so well instilled into ambitious Americans of today that they have come to realize to an astonishing extent how impossible it is to be healthy and capable while they are handicapped with poisonous waste in the lower intestine, or constipation.

That is one reason why C. B. Brewster & Co. of Dover, the popular druggists, are so enthusiastic over the results of Abbey's Effervescent Salts, that old, tried-and-true remedy, so pleasant to take and so perfect in its results. The new package of Abbey's which can now be obtained at your druggist's, is larger and better than ever, but at the same old price. THE PLANTING OF THE GREEN

(By Alice Corbin of the Vigilantes)

Oh, woody dear, and did ye hear
The noise that's going round?
We are rising up by ten thousands
And we're ploughing of the ground.
We are dropping in the corn and beans,
We are planting wheat for all,
We are moulting turnips too,
An' answerin' the call.

Your Auntie Sam is makin' him
For all the boys to eat,
And when she gets her dander up,
You know she can't be beat.
She's bossin' all the folks about,
The farm's no home at all,
It's just a moulting camp
For answerin' the call.

Sa, Woody dear, ye need not fear,
The country's comin' strong;
You can hear the fife and whistles,
You can hear the drummin' song,
You can hear the crops a-sproutin',
You can hear the seedlings say,
"We're pushing up for freedom too—
We'll do our bit today."

Your Uncle Sam says "Here I am"
We're marchin' everywhore;
We are planting beets and bayonets,
Oh, we're layin' down in our hair,
But we're marchin' to the music
Of a bratin' peace for all—
With our spears and our muskets
We are answerin' the call.

THE MAN WHO FED BELGIUM

(By Mary Austin of the Vigilantes)

"The political and departmental opposition in Washington to the appointment of Herbert C. Hoover as food administrator, with full powers over all the process involved in food conservation, is in direct opposition also to the expressed wish of the people."

"The people want Hoover."

"They want him because he is the best expression of what they trust to meet in the American destiny, the gift for doing things."

Nobody believes that Hoover succeeded in Belgium merely because he had the United States behind him. As a matter of fact he didn't have it behind him except in the purely nominal sense, for never at any time was the contribution from the U. S. A. on a par with the contributions officially and voluntarily made by the Allies of Belgium. Not in fact until we became an Ally of Belgium ourselves.

Government lent official monetary aid to that stricken country. What Hoover himself said about it was that he was able to do what he did because as an American he felt himself the equal of anybody, his country as good as anybody's country, and himself in virtue of his citizenship as good as any man. What he had behind him was his faith in Americanism, the same faith which leads the people now to demand his appointment and insist that Congress give full scope to the practical expression of that faith.

TERRIFIED HUNDREDS BY THREAT

(By Associated Press.)
Boston, June 3.—Seated on the roof of St. James Roman Catholic Church for more than two hours, threatening to commit suicide by jumping to the sidewalk, a woman spread fear through a crowd of a hundred or more persons today who stood horrified and helpless. Three priests attempted by words, passed to her through the skylight on the roof, to dissuade her from the purpose, and police reserves on the sidewalk added their appeals for consideration. Priests, called to the scene by the police, spent some time trying for more than an hour, so as to break her fall should she carry out her intention of jumping, which meant a fall of seventy-five feet from the edge of the roof to the sidewalk. Nearly 500 persons at Mass in the church raised their prayers to turn her from her purpose.

Finally Father Philip J. O'Donnell, rector of St. James, started across the roof from the skylight, and was able to persuade the woman to return to him. At a hospital she claimed that she was Mrs. Cella Vennard, a parishioner of St. James, and that her relations were trying to have her placed in an insane asylum. Rather than be subjected to what she terms a living death, she intended to commit suicide.

SIX MONTHS SENTENCE FOR U. S. MARINE

John Polk, a private in the U. S. Marine Corps, was sentenced by Judge Ernest L. Cullitt in Municipal Court on Saturday afternoon, to six months in the county jail after being found guilty on a charge of assaulting a police officer. Polk, it was alleged, was placed under arrest on May 26 by Patrolman Condon for a misdemeanor, and while on the way to the station he turned on the officer, struck him down and succeeded in making his escape. The man was later held at the yard and the local authorities asked for his return to the civil authorities.

Owing to the fact that the country is at war permission had to be obtained from the Navy Department at Washington. This was granted on Saturday and two police officers returned him to Portsmouth at noon. He was lodged in the jail immediately after the special session of the court had pronounced sentence.

AMERICANS ARE REPORTED SAFE ON RUSSIAN SOIL

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, June 3.—The safe arrival at a Russian port of the American commission, headed by Elihu Root, was officially reported by the State Department tonight, following the receipt of a cablegram from members of the commission. Their mission includes the formal greetings of the United States to the new Russian government, and carries also assurance of the willingness of the United States to aid Russia, not only in the war against Germany but in the shaping of her course under the newly formed government.

After a conference with President Wilson about May 10 Mr. Root and his party left Washington for a Pacific Coast port where they were embarked on an American warship for transportation to Russia.

CHRISTIANITY FOLLOWS WAR SAYS DR. STRONG

The Rev. Dr. W. E. Strong of Boston delivered a remarkable sermon at the North Church on Sunday evening and epitomized the general opinion of many took the stand that the present war in which the world is engaged would be a wonderful gain for Christianity. His subject, "Is War a Blow to Religion or for Religion?" was ably handled and from his reasoning Dr. Strong is firm in his conviction that war is a blow, and a hard blow, for religion.

A number of enlisted men of the army and navy were among his audience and to them he delivered a message in which he said that they were going into a war which meant great things for the world. He urged them to fight hard and clean and unselfishly and win for the world's greatest need, Christianity.

Dr. Strong, who has traveled extensively in the countries which he discussed, cited numerous instances where previous to the war the nations were seemingly closer to the Christian spirit. This he said was in most cases an untrue state of affairs, and that only war can and will bring a return to these nations of true Christianity.

The Russian people, he said, for years had lived under a strict form of government, had at last freed themselves, now, like China, she is opening her doors to Christianity.

He spoke of conditions in Africa, the people of which are closed to the teaching of the Christian religion by the three great powers, Britain, Germany and France. But he declared that at the close of the present war even Africa would be opened to the teaching of Christianity.

Washington, June 3.—The U. S. Destroyer Ammen arrived at the Boston Navy Yard today. SWEDEN'S MERCHANT FLEET HARD HIT

(By Associated Press.)
Stockholm, June 3.—Sweden's merchant fleet lost, either through the war or by accident, in the first three months of this year thirteen steamers with a total tonnage of 22,332; two motor-driven vessels with a total of 2,621 tons, and six sailing vessels aggregating 1,152 tons. Including three steamers lost by decision of prize courts, and other vessels withdrawn from service, the whole fleet has been reduced by 42 units. The excess of tonnage lost over newly built or purchased tonnage amounts to 16,425 tons. Many sailors, seeing no outlook for work under present conditions, have temporarily given up the sea and taken positions inland, many of them going to farms.

GUESTS OF THE BOARD OF TRADE AT YORK BEACH

York, June 4.—The members of the York Board of Trade held a meeting on Saturday evening in Freeman's hall, which was presided over by President Joseph Simpson. The local board had as guests President F. M. Sise, Vice President F. W. Hartford, Treasurer John K. Bates and Director Edward Seybolt of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Dr. Platt was the first speaker and he was followed by Messrs Sise, Bates and Seybolt of Portsmouth. Mr. Hartford was the advertised speaker and he told the members that York was the finest and most beautiful and picturesque spot on the New England coast and the members of the board should advertise the fact. He urged every man and woman in the town to join the board, throw away the hammers and "push." "You have many fine, hustling citizens here who are doing things for the town and you should get behind them and push." The speaker spoke of the enterprise in building the new hotel and of the prospects for more efficient electric car service under the recent change. He referred to the efficiency of the local board of health and what it had done. "One of your greatest assets is the magnificent Country Club, and you can make York Harbor a second Newport or Manchester, Vermont, and every member should join in boosting these many attractions. You have every thing that is needed in the way of comforts and attractions. The town is growing and it will continue or stand still, just as you wish."

Mr. Hartford was followed by Mr. Gibson Moulton, a former York citizen who has returned to manage the new Marshall hotel which opens on June 25. He gave an interesting talk on the old days when he was at the head of the school located in the building where their meeting was being held. He was given a hearty reception. The speech making closed with remarks by Ralph Hawkes. He told what the young men of the town were doing. It was a fine meeting and it was followed by another during the present month.

NEWINGTON

Newington, June 4.—The pupils of the Grammar and Primary Grades held memorial services in the town hall on Monday evening. The large audience was greatly pleased and highly entertained by the boys and girls who rendered their recitations, songs and dialogues in a creditable manner.

The children and all listened intently and were greatly impressed by the patriotic addresses of Commander M. H. Bell and of Chaplain Doolittle of Storer Post, U. S. A. R. of Portsmouth. The pupils sang fervently and enthusiastically, although many of them could not grasp the meaning of the old time war songs.

The drawings and busy work of the children were on exhibition on tables in the back part of the hall. Much credit should be given the teachers in including the music instructors, Miss Lucy Hoyt of Greenland, for such an excellent entertainment.

The Universal Society held their regular monthly meeting at the Ladies Club Room on Friday afternoon. After the business of the meeting was concluded a social chat was enjoyed by those who were present.

NEWMARKET THREATENED WITH LOSS OF ITS PRESTIGE

(By Associated Press.)
Newmarket, England, June 4.—Newmarket is threatened with the loss of its prestige as the principal racing place in England as a result of the government's decision to stop racing. Newmarket is about sixty-five miles from London, possesses the finest race course and training ground in England and its 10,000 inhabitants have depended on the racing industry for a living for many years. The stoppage of racing will have about the same effect on the place as the taking away of the seafront would have on Coney Island or Atlantic City.

The Rev. H. B. Young, rector of the leading church in Newmarket is opposed to the elimination of racing in his town and hopes that the report that the government is to consent to a modified form of racing will prove true.

"Everyone of our 10,000 people," said the rector, "directly or indirectly, lives on the horses. If racing were run, it would be a last city. The whole industry would go down. Breeding would deteriorate."

The clergyman indignantly denied the charge that Newmarket is an immoral town. "I think," he said, "that it compares favorably with any town in England. There is not as much betting here as among the cab drivers in London."

"Virtually one third of the assessable value of the town is in racing establishments. A number of trainers have put their earnings into establishments, starting with $10,000 or $15,000 and adding to it up to $50,000. Their life savings will diminish. There are hundreds of storekeepers covering an area of seven or eight miles round the town who live on the racing and its devotees. Hundreds of others have invested their money in business that depends almost entirely on the patronage of those who come to see the horses run."

SWITZERLAND IS THE REFUGE OF DESERTERS FROM BOTH ARMIES

(By Associated Press.)
Berne, Switzerland, June 4.—Between 10,000 and 12,000 deserters from the armies of the Entente Allies and the Central Powers have fled to Switzerland since the beginning of the war or have refused to leave the country at the conclusion of furloughs and are now classed as deserters. The majority are said to be Italians.

The long list constitutes a not inconsiderable problem for the authorities. They enjoy the same rights as other foreigners who are here legitimately, yet cannot be drawn on in any way for taxes or state expenses. They pay no military tax or immunity, and not infrequently commit deeds, that make it necessary to send them to jail, where their support naturally falls on the confederation.

As a problem they may be said to rank in vexatiousness with the innumerable and constant violations of neutrality which come to light almost daily, especially on the part of the French and the Germans.

The general staff of the army announces on an average a dozen aerial violations a week by aviators who cut across into the way to the front from France or Germany, and who cross the little neck of Switzerland that juts up into both countries in the northwest corner of the country.

This little neck is also the target for both French and German shells. The gunners, far behind the lines, get the wrong ranges and "shoot up" Swiss territory before they can be told of their mistake.

Less often, but occasionally, prisoners of war attempt to escape either from Germany or France, and are shot and killed after they have reached Swiss territory, or else the pursuing shells crash over into Swiss territory and mangle those on this side.

It is generally the case that fugitives who do manage to reach this side, regardless of where they are from, are royally and handsomely treated. Frequently four Russians escaped from Germany swam the Rhine, and landed on Swiss soil. They were met by a veritable reception committee on this side, were given a meal that satisfied even their enormous, starved appetites, and were generally fed before being escorted to an internment camp where they will spend the rest of the war.

have thus raised a million and a quarter of francs which it is expected will go eventually to workmen now unemployed, but later who will be either unemployed, or at work only on part time.

Likewise the silk manufacturers of Basel have already got into touch with the charitable and poor authorities of the city to prepare for the expected time of distress. As yet, fortunately, the reduction in work is slight.

The government of Switzerland also has not neglected the problem of the future. Recently it increased the "war profit tax" by one-fifth, the additional money thus raised going into a fund to care for workless men and women.

Portsmouth, N. H., Monday, June 4, 1917.

New Hampshire's Splendid Program.

As readers of this paper cannot have failed to notice, New Hampshire is preparing to do her full share toward the big production of crops that is demanded by the conditions that exist. It has long been plain that if the people of this country are to be properly fed and the allies assisted as they will need to be assisted by the receipt of supplies from the United States the production of crops of all kinds must be far beyond any previous year's record in the history of the country.

For this reason the farmers of the country are putting forth extra efforts and the people of the cities and towns are engaging in gardening, many of them for the first time. In many instances lawns have been plowed or spaded and every available foot of land is to be put to the most practical of all uses, the production of food.

Consequently there is cause for pride and gratification in the action that is being taken in this state, in which the utmost effort is to be put forth to increase the food supply. In response to a call from the State Food Committee of the Committee on Public Safety machinery has been put in motion for supplying farm labor where needed. Offices have been opened and agents appointed to look up farm laborers and send the men to points where they are most needed. Hard work is being done along this line and the results cannot fail to be substantial.

Another most excellent and helpful thing is the action taken by state institutions with farms attached. Many of these have in the past been in the habit of buying a part of their supplies, even of farm crops and vegetables, but this practice will not prevail this year if the present program is carried out as there is every reason to believe it will be. Under this program these institutions will make a valiant effort to produce all they will need, and more if possible. This is a year when there is no danger of over-production of any product of the soil, and it is pleasing to hear of such action as these state institutions are to take.

New Hampshire is no slacker. When there is work to be done for the common good of the country the old Granite State is always ready to do her part, and she is ready now. If all of the other states will do as well there will be no shortage of foodstuffs. New Hampshire sets the right pace and it is only to be hoped that her example will be followed by every state in the Union.

A number of persons, east and west, have been arrested on the charge of attempting to discourage registration. This is no better than treason and if they are convicted they should be dealt with in a manner to effectually discourage any further attempts along that line. And it is safe to say they will be. This is no time to deal lightly with those who would deliberately frustrate the preparations for war.

On registration day, June 5, the young men of this state will be given every encouragement to enlist instead of waiting and taking their chances with conscription. Eight hundred men are needed to fill the ranks of the National Guard units to war strength and it would be a proud day for New Hampshire if her young men should see fit to do this voluntarily. Think it over, young men.

A London speaker says the English working people are getting tired of the word welfare. It is quite probable that this has been used to the point of weariness, and it is fully as probable that the people of the country would interpose no objection to the real thing. There is a wide difference between welfare as a catchword and welfare in the concrete.

It is said there have been so many applications of late for admission to the society of Friends, or Quakers, that the latter have resolved to make some inquiry into the motives of these suddenly converted individuals. The Quakers are convinced that if it is to escape conscription the new recruits would not make very valuable members of their sect.

Donald MacMillan, the explorer, and other members of the Crocker land expedition who went into the Arctic in 1913 are reported safe on the northwest coast of Greenland. It is impossible for the ordinary individual to figure out how the results of these explorations are worth their cost in money, suffering and life. But perhaps they are.

It is charged that Boston society women have been inviting shop girls to their homes to sew for the soldiers, and then painting off the work as their own. One dislikes to believe such a story, which, if true, unfits those who have been guilty of the practice for admission to any decent society.

Of course no play on words was intended when the newspapers of the country the other day referred to the first speech made in the House by Miss Rankin, the congresswoman from Montana, as her "maiden" speech.

From the Exchanges

In the Oil Trade
(From the Christian Science Monitor)
When it is announced that the Sinclair Oil and Refining Corporation is extending its field of operations to the East, and is broadening its territory at all points, the first impression likely to be received, by the casual reader, is that perhaps this promises or threatens competition with the Standard Oil Company; but the second and all subsequent impressions would tend toward the removal of any such belief. Manifestly, the Sinclair Oil and Refining Corporation is not making its way, by either pipes or tank-cars, toward the rising sun with any intention of reducing Standard Oil dividends, regular or extra.

An atmosphere of benevolence is entirely absent from the statement of the president of the invading company with reference, for instance, to the price of gasoline. On the contrary, he echoes a regret that is shared by the Standard Oil people, namely, that the consumer is permitted to get off so easily. These are his words as they have been recorded in the press reports: "Gasoline prices are very little higher than they were one year ago. Oil prices have yet to experience the increase which has taken place in other products essential for military operations." That is, the war, unfortunately, has not served the oil people as it has served other people, as an excuse for running up prices.

This is only one phase of the general lament. The Standard Oil Company expresses sorrow that the capitalization of its various subsidiaries is leading an ignorant public to think that perhaps Standard Oil earnings, gross and net, and Standard Oil dividends, regular and extra, are larger than they ought to be. A way to disabuse the popular thought of such a delusion is not to cut down the profits but to increase the capital stock to the point where the percentage of earnings, profits, dividends, and so on, will seem small. Thus, we have this, concerning the plan for increasing capital stock, presented to us for our edification:

In line with that plan the Standard Oil of New Jersey, now capitalized at $100,000,000, would have stood a capitalization close to $300,000,000 at the close of 1915, and it is believed as a result of accumulated surplus since then this company at present could be capitalized at $400,000,000.

Where does this ability to increase capitalization come from? From the extortionate rates charged consumers, of course. Are these extortionate rates ever going to be reduced? Perhaps so, by action of the people; evidently not by competition of the Sinclair Oil and Refining Corporation, or by the competition of any other privately owned concern.

Miser or Spendthrift?

(From the Laclede Democrat)

There is always a question whether a miser or a spendthrift is the more detrimental to a community, and this question seems to be brought up again by uncertainty of how the present war is going to effect business conditions. There are already indications that ultra-conservative people are inclined to practice economy to an extent that threatens to bring about the very condition of affairs they are trying to avoid. Of course, this generation has never faced a similar situation and it is natural that there should be a degree of uncertainty about how to prepare for the future. But the best informed business men declare their belief that this country during the present war will experience the biggest business boom in its history. In discussing the situation, the Kansas City Star calls attention to the fact that the Treasury department at Washington is authorized for the statement that the Allies expect to borrow from 400 to 500 million dollars a month from the United States, and that their program calls for the expenditure of practically all of this immense sum of money here in this country, for foodstuffs, munitions, coal, clothing, railway equipment and other supplies. This means that hundreds of millions of dollars will be spent in this country for supplies, in addition to the normal demand. And the European powers are not the only source of orders for supplies. The United States government is going to build merchant ships by the thousands. It is going to order thousands of airplanes and motor vehicles. It is going to need all kinds of equipment for the army it is raising. And at the same time, hundreds of thousands of men will be withdrawn from industry to enter the army. The places of these men will be taken to a considerable extent by women and boys who have heretofore been unproductive. The demand for labor will be so great that there will be no idle men and no men on part time. Every available man will be employed and at increased wages in nearly all cases. That has been the experience in England, and it can reasonably be expected in this country. The result will be that poverty will be pretty nearly abolished. Living costs will be high but incomes will be higher. The natural outcome will be a stimulation of business. This being true, and it seems probable, there is no occasion for hoarding and pinching. Economy should of course be practiced to a reasonable extent and waste of all kinds should be absolutely avoided, but there is no occasion for alarm and everybody should bear in mind that too much economy is fully as bad as wastefulness.

Uncle Sam Wants $50 From You

(From the New York Sun)

Uncle Sam has started out to raise $7,000,000,000, which is almost exactly $50 for every man, woman and child in this country. As a starter he needs $2,000,000,000, which is $20 for every man, woman and child in the country. This money must be raised right away. It must be had by September 1. Of course not every man, woman and child in the country can lend $20 or save that much to lend to the government by September 1.

Therefore it devolves upon every man or woman who can—and upon every boy or girl who can save the pennies—to advance the money.

The money is lent to Uncle Sam by buying a $50 bond of the Liberty Loan or a bigger bond. If you can manage to buy it.

To buy a $50 bond you pay $1 down now at any bank. Then you pay $9 on June 23, $10 on July 30, $15 on August 15 and the remaining $15 on August 30. You can buy the bond on the same terms at almost any of the large retail stores.

If you can't buy a $50 bond on these terms you can save $10, $20, $30 or $40. Ten dollar certificates are soon to be issued, for five of which a bond will be given. Start saving right away to-day and save as much as you can. You will probably be surprised to see how quickly you can get together $50.

Can you save $2 a week? You can buy a $100 bond that way, paying for it in a year.

Can you pay $10 down and $5 a month? You can buy a $100 bond that way, paying for it in a year and a half.

In case you take longer than until September 1 to pay for a bond the banker advances the money to Uncle Sam until you have paid the full amount. Those who subscribe before June 15 will receive full interest from Uncle Sam on every cent they put in as fast as they put it in.

While Uncle Sam is only asking for $20 a head from all of us now, there are so many who can't raise that much that the rest of us must try to give, or save and give, at least $50 apiece to make up the whole amount. We ought to try to take a $50 bond each. Say you have a family of four, your wife, yourself and two children. Plan to take $200 worth of bonds. If you can't buy them cash down or finish paying for them on August 30, try the $1 a week or the $20 down and $10 a month plan. Make every one chip in. Your wife can do her bit and the children can give their two bits.

But buy a $50 bond anyway. You can save that much by August 30. You know you can.

COURT CAUSES QUITE A STIR AMONG LAWYERS

A recent ruling of the superior court has caused a stir among the county authorities and the several lawyers connected with cases on the docket. The courts have directed that hereafter no appeal cases coming up from the lower court shall go over from one term to another and be kept on the docket at the request of attorneys. This system is said to have greatly retarded the business of the court and hereafter every appeal case shall be disposed of during the term in which it is entered. The court will consider the question of transfer only where it is absolutely necessary. As a result of this decision the session at Exeter will be a busy one. Attorneys from all parts of the county were present anxious to get cases off their hands. The docket contains many criminal appeal cases and they will be disposed of today one way or another. To try each of them would take two weeks or more.

ARREST MAY FOLLOW FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Francis H. Gately of Greenland Struck by Car
Driven by Boston Contractor on Lafayette
Road Saturday Night

Francis H. Gately, aged 45, of Chelsea, Mass., was fatally injured on Saturday night when struck by an automobile owned and operated by Albert G. McIntosh, a Boston contractor. The accident occurred on the Lafayette road and although an effort was made to save the injured man's life he died while being rushed to the hospital. Medical Referee George E. Pender will hold an autopsy this morning and County Solicitor William H. Sleeper of Exeter is expected to be present at the inquest. It is understood by the authorities that Mr. Sleeper will ask for the arrest of Mr. McIntosh on a charge of manslaughter.

Mr. McIntosh made no attempt to leave the county for Boston but remained over Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Haddon H. Hooper of West Rye. He came to Rye from Boston on Saturday afternoon for the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, who were in the car with him at the time of the accident.

Gately, in company of two of his fellow employees on a large piggy farm at Greenland, were returning to Greenland from Portsmouth. Gately's companions were Dennis Coughlin and John J. Flanagan. The three men, according to Coughlin and Flanagan, rode as far as the Plains on therolley and were walking along Lafayette road on their way home. The heavy car suddenly rushed upon them without warning, because of the dense fog, and Gately was struck and thrown to the ground. McIntosh claims that he did not see the men until he was right on top of them when he applied the emergency brake but owing to the wet condition of the road the car slid fifty feet before it could be stopped. Gately was picked up and they tried to get him to the hospital, but he died before they finished the trip. At the hospital Gately was found to have sustained a fractured skull and his right leg was fractured above the knee.

Gately is spoken highly of by his employe and his friends and acquaintances. His home is at Chelsea although he had been here for some time. He is unmarried and has one brother living at Woburn, Mass.

McIntosh is in the contracting business with offices at 2 Creek Square, Boston, and a residence at 593 Main street, Medford, Mass.

The annual mass of requiem for the deceased members of the Ancient Order of Libermans which was postponed from May 30, was offered this morning at 8 o'clock.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES.

Last week Clara Kimball Young and Lewis Selznick wherein she claims he has taken advantage of her business inexperience and has neglected to turn over to her her share—49 per cent of the profits of their company, in addition to her salary of $1000 a week, as per contract. This week Selznick turns around and sues Miss Young in which the producer seeks to restrain the star from appearing for any other film concern but her own. Nothing succeeds like success, but success doesn't always succeed—especially when money is the first and only consideration by some people.

The Liberty Loan is certainly getting much advertising and the big brains of the country are constantly suggesting new schemes for floating of the loan and in impressing the importance of it in the minds of the people. A proprietor of a theatre in Newark, New Jersey, has found a way in assisting the government with the loan. Beginning today this man is to give away at each performance in his theatres a $50 Liberty Bond. He will not raise the price of admission and the lucky number system will be used in drawing the bonds.

A group of prominent motion picture men have pledged themselves to raise the sum of $5,000,000 which is to be subscribed for Liberty Bonds.

Perhaps the reason why the Senate committee has stricken out the House provision for a tax on the twenty-five cent film theatres, is because it realizes what the movies mean to the public—and their assistance in the loan. More than 10,000 theatres in the United States today are running loan slides and film trailers to aid the government.

A week from next Monday we begin the new Pathé serial "The Neglected Wife," with Ruth Roland. Very soon we are to show the "Seven Deadly Sins" and the new Arbuckle-Paramount comedies.

Next Monday we have "Snow White" with Marguerite Clark.

Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne have signed a new long term contract with Metro company.

Considerable comedy and serious drama are the basis of a fine program that we have to offer our patrons today and tomorrow.

The Triangle play is a special production with an all-star cast including Irene Howley.

It is "Her Father's Keeper" and is one of those unsurpassed plays of Wall Street and the business world. The story is of a butterfly daughter of a financier who realizes his unscrupulous business methods and acquires a business education in time to save her father from ruin at his own hands.

The Paramount picture is full of laughs. Frank McIntyre stars in "The Travelling Salesman," his greatest stage success.

Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne co-star in the next to the final episode of "The Great Secret." By all means see this important episode.

EACH STEP MEANS ADDED DESOLATION TO FRANCE

(By Associated Press)

Staff Correspondence of the Associated Press, British Army Headquarters in France, May 12.—While the grip of the Germans, clinging desperately to the line they flung from Switzerland to the sea, slowly but steadily is being broken, each backward step means added desolation to a beautiful part of France. The coming of spring has brought a new howl of misery to the results of peace treaty upon the heads of war. The French farms, geometrically precise, reach up to the very domain of the guns and it is possible on many parts of the line, to see old French men and women following plows and harrows almost to the very edge of the heavy battery positions.

Shells are tossed near them now and then but they never seem to mind. The war is nearly three years old now and shells and battle noises have become the normal things of life, not the abnormal ones.

It is even possible along "older" bits of the line in the north to see farmers ploughing both sides of the war zone. At the places less harshly dealt with where the Germans were driven this spring, many of the trenches already have been filled and the ground is being put under cultivation. Some of the newly sown fields, however, recently have been ripped up by long-ranged German guns.

Fighting men who are relieved every little while from the front line duty come for a brief rest to the spring-tide branches of the back country and the change of surroundings from the cauldron of war to the peace of blossoms and birds is no greater than the transformation of these English Tommies, themselves, and their brothers from overseas. These men, who under the red spell of battle, shoot, bayonet, and bomb to death all who stand before them, become gentle as little children again. One can see these soldiers with the battle fatigue heavy upon their standing for hours in long lines outside divisional canteens waiting their turn to go in and buy as others stream out laden with cakes and with candy.

Grim and resolute in battle, Tommy seems to have a certain simplicity and kindness of heart which makes him react unthinkingly to the normal laws of mankind as soon as the fighting is over. If he has to take a journey by train he sits in the open doors of boxcars with his feet and legs swinging outside. If there is a movie show anywhere near he gladly pays 50 cents to go, especially when war scenes happen to be shown, laughing heartily when a shell bursts nearby, appears to have upset the equilibrium of the man working the camera.

Today, while resting, a squadron cavalry was having a water carnival along a pretty little French river. Their band was playing gay airs and all the women, children and old men of the countryside came to see the swimming races, diving contests and attempts to walk a greasy pole across a swift running stream. Their was a soldier clown, too, and a great air of merriment all about. A German prisoner taken some time ago said he could always tell when the British were not going to attack by the fact that the Tommies could be heard singing, especially wartime.

There are no longer any songs about how long it is from Slippy to the work or play or swinging about the roads to battle nowadays. The Tommies sing about wanting to get back to their home in Tennessee and about a Kentucky jubilee, without the slightest idea of just where Tennessee or Kentucky are.

If the American expeditionary force comes into the British zone, the Americans will find the lands playing and the men singing many old familiar tunes.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE MEN ANSWERING COUNTRY'S CALL

Hanover, N. H., June 2.—Some 600 Dartmouth students have answered their country's call, the number from each of the four classes being about equal. As a result activities at the college are almost at a standstill. Athletics is stopped, and competition in other lines have slowed down—the average undergraduate is doing no other outside work than the daily drill.

Prospects for next year's football team seem to be blasted. Duossott, captain-elect in France as captain of a United States transport unit of 20 Dartmouth men, five from Hanover, four from Yale, three from Johns Hopkins, two from Chicago University and one each from Columbia and Williams. Kennedy, manager is serving with "Duke" and chances of their returning in the fall are small.

Jack Campbell of Everett, mentioned by many for an All-American place as quarterback, has enlisted in the Naval Reserve, and Cogswell, his roommate, who was a varsity end, is with him. Noddy, the one-armed guard, has gone back to Texas his home state, to farm. Many of the senior members of the team have also entered some branch of National service. Garfield, last year's captain, is at Newport in the Naval fleet service, also Paul Teller and Austin, both members of last year's line. Archie (the) stocky center has gone to France to pilot an ambulance. Bonde Thiescher, the Brookline halfback, is enrolled in the army stores course in Tuck school.

It was expected the freshmen this year would make up for the losses to the team by graduation, but so many of them, too, have left that it seems doubtful if the expectation will be realized. Dorney, Hopkins, Phillips, Durkee and Sonnenberg, strong candidates all have entered the Navy, and Jordan with the Ambulance Corps. Jim Robinson, freshman captain, has gone west to do farm work and is expected to return in the fall.

Track has suffered most of all in the rush to the colors. The five hurdlers who made Dartmouth almost unbeatable in this event—Hobbs, Trenholm, Thompson, Shea and Grady—have all left college for this year at least. Hobbs is in France, Thomson is farming potatoes in North Dakota, Trenholm is in a medical corps, Grady in the ambulance service and Shea in the Navy. Paul Miner, captain-elect and quarter-mile, is another of the ambulance chauffeurs, and Duffy, the distance runner, is a full-fledged far. Jake Gordon, freshman half-miler, who broke the college record last winter, has also gone to France.

However, commencement plans have been changed in only one way—the abolition of the Commencement Ball. This was one of the chief items of expense, costing about $1800 and the class, deeming economy the best part of patriotism, voted its removal.

AFTER THE WAR, WHAT?

Many New England manufacturers who have directly or indirectly been running at full capacity on war orders, are of the opinion that mid-summer will see the close of the war.

What to do with their largely unemployed equipment and the great number of extra employees after the war, is a problem that they are now trying to solve. It is hoped that the answer will be forthcoming at the Expert Conference which will be held in Springfield next June in connection with our Industrial Exhibition of New England manufacturers.

This will be the first great trade show ever held in America, although Holland, Glasgow, London, and other European trade centers have held them annually for many years. The Eastern States buildings will house this exposition, which has been officially endorsed by the United States Department of Commerce.

According to Mr. Frank H. Page, chairman of the general committee, thousands of square feet of display space have already been taken by New England's leading manufacturers, and the work will now be actively carried on to fill up the great buildings to the limit of their capacity.

While the National Daily Show made its principal appeal to the rural population, the Industrial Exhibition will be of direct interest to the manufacturers, dealers and consumers—who go to make up the city population of the east.

Though the Expert Conference is very serious in intent and purpose, the exhibition will be enlivened with attractive entertainment features and a splendid "show" afforded to the general public.

For the pride they have in this vicinity, manufacturers are urged by the committee to "put their best foot forward" in order that other industrial centers may not carry off the palm for the most representative showing of products.

An interesting illustrated book may be secured from headquarters in the Board of Trade rooms, describing the scope of the undertaking.

SOME PATRIOTIC SENTIMENTS FROM BIG AMERICANS

About the last words that Hon. Joseph H. Choate, formerly ambassador to England uttered, were, "For God's sake, hurry up!"—Life.

"This is going to be a different world if the Central Powers win the war, and it is by no means certain that they will not. Unless we conscript ourselves for this battle and by our wealth and our lives at the altar of the defense of our institutions, we will find our descendants in the vortex of world dominating schemes of autocracy."—Dr. David Jayne Hill, formerly ambassador to Germany.

"The Allies have spilled their blood, and now it is our duty to end the war. In victory rests the hope of civilization. The man or woman who does not do his duty in some way will always regret it. Men of Harvard regiment, the old veterans and the country salute you and bid you Godspeed."—Major Henry Lee Higginson at Boston, May 20.

"We have said in the beginning that we planned this great government that men who wish freedom might have a place of refuge and a place where their hope could be realized, and now, having established such a government, having vindicated such a government, having preserved the power of such a government, we are saying to all mankind, 'We did not set this government up in order that we might have a selfish and separate liberty, for we are now ready to come to your assistance and fight out upon the fields of the world the cause of human liberty. In this thing America attains her full dignity and the full fruition of her great purpose.'"

"No man can be glad that such things have happened as we have witnessed in these last fateful years, but perhaps it may be permitted to us to be glad that we have an opportunity to show the principles that we profess to be living principles, that live in our hearts, and to have a chance by the pouring out of our blood and treasure to vindicate the things which we have professed."—President Wilson, May 30, 1917.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST CHAUFFEURS

(By Associated Press)

Mexico, City, May 3.—An energetic campaign is being waged by Colonel Gonzalo de la Nava, chief of police of Mexico City against reckless and in competent chauffeurs. Hereafter, there have been few speed and traffic regulations in Mexico City and those have been marked more by violation than by observance. Chauffeurs hereafter will be compelled to pass examinations for efficiency, and the speed laws will be strictly enforced. The chief is organizing a squad of motorcycle police to deal with automobile traffic and heavy fines are being imposed on speeders.

Letters from the People

What Gerard Says of a U. S. Marine. In the city of Portsmouth, N. H., the majority of the people have a bad opinion of a Marine, and in behalf of this I wish to state their mistake.

A U. S. Marine as the better part of the United States people know, is the highest military representative of the United States. They are the first to enforce a flag on foreign soil, the first to enforce peace in the Warring Tropics and the only ones to succeed in civilizing the barbarous country of Haiti and Santo Domingo, and next they are the third best drilled men in the world and the best drilled in the United States. The best drilled body in the world is the mounted police of Canada; second comes the most famous Royal German Hussars and then comes the U. S. Marines. They have proven themselves to the highest honor the world can give.

The U. S. Marine Corps holds considerable "bad" men it is true, but the most out of the service is of highest breed. There is for instance Ex-Congressman Dooly, who has enlisted as a private just for the training that the enlisted men receive, then comes Secretary Daniels' son who has enlisted for the same purpose. Among the "bad" men there is plenty, but they do not exceed those of the Army and Navy. There has to be some everywhere men may exist. It takes a great mixture to make a world of life. But the last feature of the people of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, is, "That they take one for all." They will for instance see one Marine come down the street "drunk" and exhausted, they will look upon his bright uniform and say "So there is a Marine for you." Then turn around and see a happy chap in the very same uniform with clear mind and a good heart, willing to do his very best toward the people and probably come up to you and say "Fine day today isn't it?" then the only answer he receives is a queer sounding "How do you do, and I left alone." This Marine feels all down-hearted and feels that he hasn't a friend in the world.

"Then comes the thought that 'Here I am, always ready and willing to protect my people, upholding their name and honor and this is what I receive in return.'"

"The drunken Marine may go up the street and see a young girl passing him and he will say: 'Good morning 'Kid.' How's everything,' and probably insult the young girl by going over to her. This is not only an insult to the man himself, but to the whole uniform. Then the well bred Marine, the true upholder to the honor of Semper Paratus, may see a young lady passing him and just merely tip his hat in a friendly manner and receive a very unpleasant answer. Now this Marine is a gentle man and a true Marine; he is not trying to 'flirt' or do anything out of the way; he is just shyly trying to get acquainted and can't. It is a bad policy to withhold a good man from acquaintance, just try it out and see. Don't be awkward."

"I am a U. S. Marine and just a mere private also, but I am proud to hold the honor of wearing a Marine's Uniform. It is an honor, the best honor I ever received and the best anyone can receive."

"Just the other night I was up to Freeman's Hall to a dance by Marden's Orchestra just for pastime and in civilian clothes at that, but it happened that few girls knew me as a Marine and when I went on the floor with a fairly pleasant girl, my other 'friend' spoke to the girl as we danced and asked 'Would you dance with a Marine?' just as if an insult. I have received no insults or rather very few before I arrived in Portsmouth, but now I see where I had better practice to receive insults (while I'm in this town anyhow). It is the first town I had ever been in that I had to stand for such severe insults. But what I wish you people to understand is to respect your country's uniform and that of the Marines. Get acquainted and if they are not good fellows duck them; if they are of your style treat them as a friend, be on the level and treat your upholders with respect. Get acquainted with one and find what kind of a fellow he is, if he is no good duck him. If he is a good fellow treat him as a friend."

That is all I have to say. I thank you.

PRIVATE HAROLD E. GERARD,
U. S. Marine Barracks,
Navy Yard.

TO THE WOMEN OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Five hundred knitted outfits, each consisting of a sleeveless sweater, a muffler, and a pair of wristlets, are in demand for the battleship "New Hampshire," and must be ready by October 1st.

Each state in the Union is providing, through the efforts of its women, outfits for the battleship bearing its name. I have assumed to pledge the women of our state to Capt. Lloyd H. Chandler, in command of the battleship, to knit these necessary comforts for his men, believing that you good women who have so generously knitted for the needy Belgium and Serbia will be glad of an opportunity to take up this work for our own brave men, who may be among the first to be called upon to defend our honor and our flag.

Captain Chandler bids me thank you in advance for such assistance as you may be willing to render, and to assure you of his deep appreciation.

The yarn authorized by the Secretary of the Navy has been contracted for at the low cost of two dollars per outfit by the Navy League. Upon receipt of check or money order, made payable to me, this yarn will be sent by the contractor to any address, shipping charges collect. I will be glad to send free upon application as many printed directions with illustrations of the outfits as may be desired as well as any other information.

I take pleasure in referring you to Mrs. Arthur C. Hoffenger, 53 Austin street, who will furnish directions.

(Signed)
JEANETTE K. GALLINGER,

AMERICAN DEFIANCE

Let wild, murdering Teutons boast They will sink us 'neath the wave. Our nation's brave from coast to coast The flag and land will save.

We do not fear this Aryan race, Cruel pirates of the foam. Meeting the murderers face to face Three thousand miles from home.

We dared them then, and once again Those outlaws of the sea Shall learn we are not slaves, But men, fighting for liberty.

PORTSMOUTH DOVER GAME ON WEDNESDAY

Every lover of baseball in this city looks forward to the annual Portsmouth-Dover high school game in Portsmouth with the keenest delight. This year Manager Newton has secured the playgrounds for Wednesday evening and will stage the game on that night at 5 o'clock.

Many fans believe because P. H. S. took the first game of the series at Dover, the score being 7 to 1, that they will have an easy time taking the second game. Two years ago Portsmouth took the first game at Dover and Dover took the next two at Portsmouth in two of the fastest games ever seen on the local diamond. The game at Dover on May 23 was fast and very interesting. Portsmouth had to play every minute and did not dare to use a "sub."

The game next Wednesday will start at 5 o'clock and continue through the regular nine innings, thus ending about 7 o'clock. Every local fan should be on hand to witness this game, to back up the local school and to give Dover its annual welcome.

The meeting should prove of much interest to all the men.

HAS CAUSE TO REMEMBER THE BATTLE

Sunday was the fifty-third anniversary of the battle of Cold Harbor in which Co. K, 2nd N. H. vols., Co. K, 13th N. H. vols., and Co. G. of the 10th N. H. volunteers participated.

Charles L. Hoyt was a member of the latter company and received a bullet wound in the left forehead, which would undoubtedly have been fatal except for the fact the bullet was deflected by the visor of his cap. Mr. Hoyt still cherishes the cap showing the course of the bullet as a souvenir of the great conflict that threatened to disrupt the Union.

PROMOTED TO LIEUTENANT

It will be especially pleasing news to the many friends of Sergeant James K. Wilson, orderly for Captain Winn, U. S. A., to learn that he has been appointed a second lieutenant in the regular army and ordered to duty at Portland, Me. He is a thoroughly capable and efficient officer. He has been in the service 14 years and for the past year has been drill master at the local armory.

ALL IS READY FOR REGISTRATION

Chairman A. B. Jenks of the recruiting committee has everything in shape for the recruiting of the state troops on Tuesday when the men between the ages of 21 and 31 years register. He will be assisted by hundreds of men and women who will appear at each polling place to take the names of all those willing to enlist in the state regiments. It is certainly a fine opportunity for the boys of the state to be with the state militia and it ought to be an easy matter to obtain the 800 men needed.
